A Multi-Sensational Experience at the Peak of Penang

Welcome to Penang Hill – the peak of Penang Island offering many activities and attractions all year round.

Discovered and established by the British in the late 1700s, Penang Hill is one of the oldest colonial hills in Southeast Asia.

1700s

The earliest mode of transport up to the hill was by Sumatran pony or sedan chair attached to a pair of bamboo carrying poles (called a “doolie”) hand carried by 4 to 8 porters.

1800s

Penang Hill is a repository of bungalows featuring a fusion of British colonial and modern Asian architecture dating back to the early days of the British settlement and the 1800s in Penang. The oldest building, Convalescent Bungalow was built in 1803. Since then, many other opulent bungalows were built such as Bel Retiro, Richmond and Fernhill Bungalow which remain standing today.

1900s

The Penang Hill Funicular Railway was the second mode of transport constructed in 1901 and completed in 1905. However, it was rendered ineffective, due to technical faults. A second railway was commissioned in 1909, and works for the second line started in 1914 with a budget of 1.5 million Straits Dollars. On 1st January 1924, the 2,007 meters long funicular railway was officially opened by then Governor of Straits Settlement, Sir L.N. Guillemard. The last upgrade was in 1977, before a complete overhaul of the system in 2010.

2011

The current 3rd generation system was commissioned in 2011; it plies the 1,996 metre track in approximately 5 minutes, making it the fastest, steepest and longest funicular in the region.
